Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Self-Improvement of Teachers Bulletin No. 1, a Tentative Moral Code, issued October, 1917, is intended for the self-improvement of boys and girls. The present bulletin is intended for adults. The concrete applications of the principles of self-improvement are made to the teacher, but the principles employed are general and apply to all forms of human service. Bulletin No. 3, now in preparation, treats of Professional Improvement of Teachers. The particular forms of knowledge and skill employed in the presence of the class are therefore omitted in the present bulletin. The best way to train the young is to train yourself at the same time; not to admonish them, but to carry out your principles in practice. - Plato. Abstract Foreword. - A monograph on personal improvement of the teacher. Professional improvement is to be treated in Bulletin No. 3. I. Introduction. 1. Teaching is a fine art, achieved through physical, mental and moral development of the artist. 2. The teacher has at his command all the achievements of the other fine arts. 3. Teaching is in contrast with the so-called industrial arts. (a) The teacher works with persons, yet by means of things. (b) The teacher is interested in the primary vocation of right living, as well, as the vocation for making a living. (c) Teaching may degenerate into a mechanical art. (1) By emphasis of school machinery. (2) By abuse of scales and measurements. (3) By failure to recognize the three products of educational processes. Improvement in teaching is achieved by improvement of the personality of the teacher. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books. Find more...
